Why we use British Wool

BRITISH WOOL Blend

Sustainably sourced Cheviot wool.

All of our mattresses are handcrafted with layers of British wool. We select the finest wool from UK hill breeds such as Cheviot as their soft but sturdy coat has natural body and bounce, making it perfect for mattresses. The secret lies in the crimp; this unique, helical crimp means it has natural elasticity and stretch, whilst retaining its shape over time.

The crimp traps pockets of air to aid both warming and cooling effects on the body, regulating your temperature through the seasons whilst being highly breathable. Our wool carries 'The Shepherds Crook' logo, which means that the British Wool Board have stringently checked and audited the yarn at every stage of the supply chain to verify its authenticity and is fully traceable back to British sheep farmers.

Our independently accredited testing facility

Our on-site laboratory is unique to the bed industry and the only one of its kind in the UK.

It is a SATRA independently accredited testing facility, which has an ISO 9001 2015 certificate Management system and is also registered with the British Standards Institute. Put simply, this means we have been testing our products for over 30 years to the highest fire and safety requirements.

We test all our products and materials beyond regulation standards for flammability and fitness for purpose and we routinely test all of our products and raw materials to verify the quality and consistency of the products we make.

Flammability testing beyond compliance

We undertake a wide range of tests on our products in relation to different fire safety regulations. We test all our hospitality products to ensure they exceed the fire requirements for hotel use. All mattresses, bed bases and headboards made for hospitality are tested to BS7177, source five, medium hazard.

Fitness for purpose testing

Another role of our laboratory is to verify fitness for purpose of our finish products. We undertake many tests to gain accurate data on wear and tear, sagging, settlement, movement of fillings, and unfit failure, to ensure we produce the highest quality product.

Marketing leading innovation

Our state of the art laboratory enables us to undertake sleep research work in order to continuously innovate our products, by establishing the science behind sleep. This includes pressure mapping, analysing spinal alignment and thermal imaging.

Sustainability

Doing more with less: Designed with purpose to reduce waste.

Our mission is to create quality sleep solutions whilst also being mindful of the impact on the environment and people. Whether that be through sustainable product options for the industry, or logistics - such as taking away our packaging for recycling or by providing our mattress recycling service for your old beds, you can be sure we're thinking about our planet every step of the way.

We are proud to be a carbon neutral business and have won a number of awards for our sustainability. Through sustainable product development, progressive work practices and partnerships with charities and societies, we are determined to make the world a greener place. We believe that every aspect of our work should reflect our commitment to sustainability. That's why even our brochures are created with thought and care. We use recycled paper to ensure that our materials are as eco-friendly as possible.

The last few years have been significant for us in our achievements; since the release of our ESG Impact report in 2021, we now have an emission reduction and Net Zero by 2040 plan validated by Science Based Targets. We're also proud to be SEDEX members which audits us on ethical trading initiatives and have successfully passed a Furniture Industry Sustainability Programme audit again this year.

As the UK's most trusted sleep brand, we only source FSC timber and use Global Recycled Standard polyester fibres and CertiPUR foams and continue to drive industry-leading innovation by adopting eco-design principles, and keeping recyclability of all materials in mind.
