Amelia

boss

Light and gentle in its styling, Amelia is a wingback chair offering softness and comfort. Like a butterfly, this is furnishing that can effortlessly flutter between formal and informal spaces, elegantly alighting wherever you choose.

Diligently

Designed

Amelia is the result of a prototype-hungry design process. Iteration after iteration, the traditionally wingback form has been refined, slimmed and augmented to create something light and modern, but that doesn't deny its classic heritage.

Material

Choices

Using the latest machinery and techniques, Amelia's body is made from injection moulded polyurethane foam around a lightweight steel frame. The result is a strong, supportive and comfortable piece that's made to last.

The wonderful organic line that delineates Amelia's form is also its single seam, and our master upholsterers can cover it in a plethora of fabrics or in a leather of your choice.

Available with four base options (four-star swivel base, four-star wooden base with self-centring, steel four-leg or sled base) Amelia is flexible enough to meet any décor specification.

Sculptural Repose

With a supportive back, ergonomic arms and functional wings that provide visual and acoustic privacy, Amelia Lounge is neatly upholstered to highlight its sculpted form. A single, continuous perimeter line flows organically around this chair with the elegance of a gymnast's ribbon.

Impressions

Our plush upholstery version features the same sumptious contours of the Amelia design while taking a softer approach to the upholstery for a more luxurious look and feel. Fabric across the back is gathered by a cross seam to create a contrasting pleated surface, which is enticing with both smooth and more textured fabrics.
