WELCOME TO LIBRA'S 2024 LOOKBOOK

Welcome to Libra's 2024 Lookbook, where we usher in a new year with a collective hope for peace and serenity. In anticipation of the importance of creating safe and calming environments, we predict a shift towards warmer tones, increased texture, and a focus on natural materials in both home interiors and fashion. Our latest launches reflect these trends, incorporating fresh and innovative approaches to colour, texture and hand finishing on products. The emphasis on natural, sustainable materials aligns with the rising popularity and importance of eco-conscious choices. In 2024, comfort, authenticity, and owning the look take centre stage, supporting the trend toward relaxed and casual luxury. Join us in embracing moody hues and relaxed, natural finishes.

MOODY HUES

There is an art to creating exceptional design, and it is never more evident than in bespoke pieces and artisan work that showcase the incomparable skill of human hands. We stand behind the values of conscious consumerism, supporting the shift towards better quality and responsibly sourced home interior products.

Handcrafted from responsibly sourced Acacia wood, the Bronks collection embodies the contemporary shift towards less formal dining and living spaces. Comprising nine meticulously crafted pieces for living, bedroom, and dining areas, each item features black stained wood on solid metal powder-coated legs, showcasing innovative design features. Embracing the trends of 2024, woven rattan dining chairs and open weave lamps add a touch of modernity, following the movement towards more natural materials. Ethically sourced solid wooden sculptures replace resin and wall art crafted from paper mache, replace conventional printed canvases.

“Beige and brown are on an upswing along with muddy colours that have an 18th-century calmness to them—think earthy colours with less vibrancy and more richness”.

HUNTER BROWN

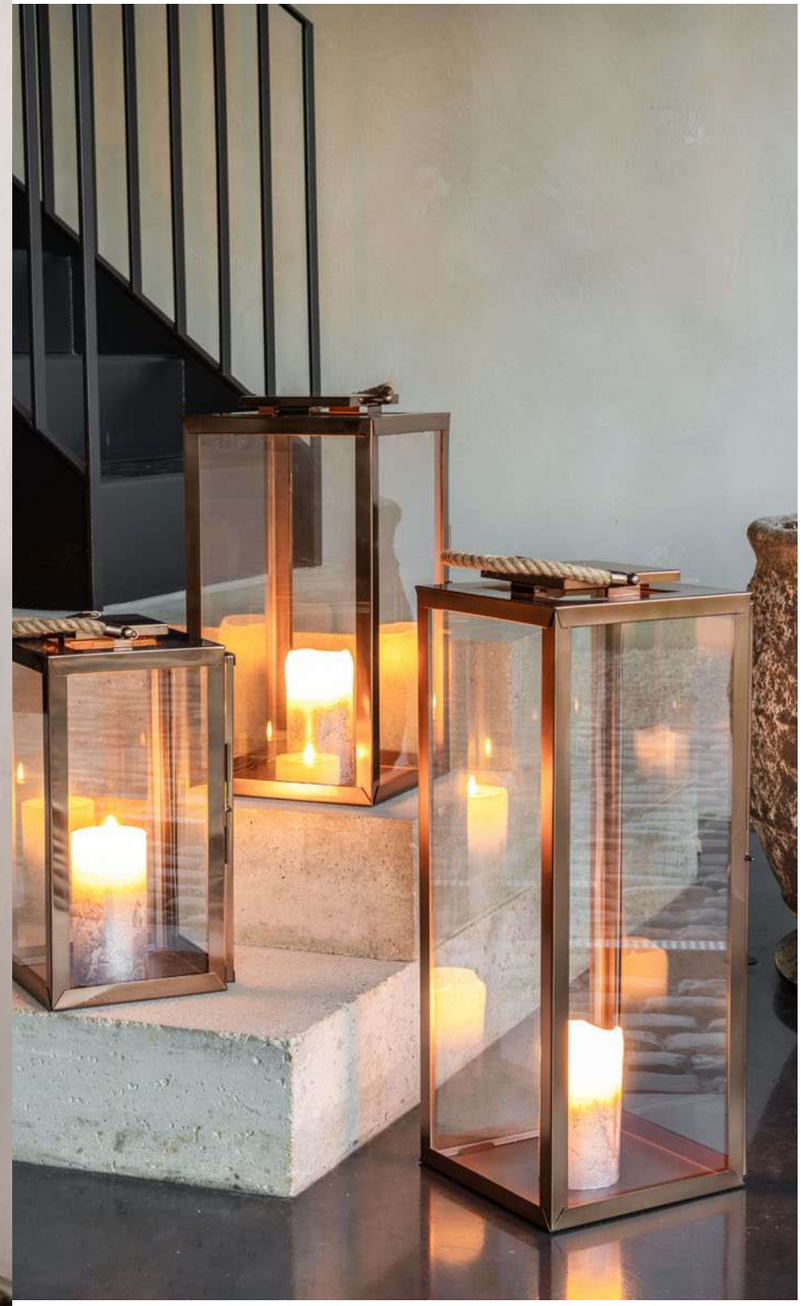

Anticipating the evolving tastes in interior design, we forecast a shift away from greys towards a palette of creams, browns, rusts, and muted greens. Embracing warm browns reminiscent of a 1970s aesthetic, as well as the resurgence of caramel tones, our upholstery, cabinets, and accessories capture the essence of this trend. The embodiment of this trend is our Hunter collection, showcasing occasional tables and storage trunks. Marked by light antique gold corrugated metal bases and complemented by solid wooden tops, Hunter exudes an organic, hand-finished quality that is elegant and opulent.

"The thing you need to remember about any trend is that you don't want to commit to it everywhere, so if you have a curved desk and chairs, you want to make sure there are also pieces with straight lines in the room—it's a mix and balance that makes a space interesting."

Alyssa Kapito, New York Designer

PURE LEATHER

In 2024, Libra defines interior style with a shift towards soft curves in our pure leather seating collection. Including informal occasional, desk, and dining chairs, as well as cosy bar and foot stools, the focus is on inviting forms that enhance comfort and aesthetics. Each piece, available in vintage cognac or charcoal leather, is meticulously hand-finished for a one-of-a-kind, authentic, and earthy feel.

CAMPBELL

The Campbell Furniture Collection is a blend of timeless craftsmanship and contemporary design, featuring solid acacia wood under a pale, hand painted finish ensuring every piece is unique. Mirrored panels are used behind wooden façades and these reflect light and create a sense of scale and occasion, brightening any space. Campbell has been designed to work in living, dining and bedroom spaces and is available in seven different designs. The console functions as a dressing table, the end table as a bedside, and the wardrobe has removeable shelves and clothes rail to offer complete versatility.
A bookshelf and buffet and three drawer chest are also available to complete this beautiful collection.

MADDOX

Rattan has surged in popularity, becoming a key trend in contemporary interior design. The Maddox furniture collection brilliantly embraces this trend with its natural warm wood finish, intricately woven natural rattan fibre door panels, adding texture, and a touch of nature to living, bedroom and dining spaces. Rattan's versatility and global appeal aligns with the growing preference for sustainable materials, making it a favoured choice among designers and retailers. The Maddox collection seamlessly combines rattan with solid acacia wood and sleek powder coated metal legs, offering timeless stylish appeal. King sized bed, bedside, and four drawer chests are available as well as dining, console and coffee tables and matching buffet and display unit.

CLIFTON

As the trend towards natural materials continues to shape interiors, our Clifton collection stands at the forefront, showcasing the timeless beauty of Italian travertine. This exquisite mineral, known for its captivating fibrous texture, takes centre stage in our collection, creating a striking visual impact. Embracing the allure of irregular surfaces, we have paired a lighter coloured travertine with brass accents and a darker version with sleek black metalwork. Clifton offers versatility with three sizes of table and a stunning circular display unit, each available in both light and dark finishes. Offering understated elegance and organic charm, the Clifton collection, fuses natural elements and defines contemporary sophistication.

"A trend we're loving is the beautiful coupling of natural materials… with sleek, more modern elements."

LIBRA THROUGH THE DECADES

1970s

Our founders, Joe & Christine embark on a three year road trip from the UK via Portugal to India, eventually ending in South Africa. They collect antiques and artefacts along their journey and send them home. Upon returning they sell their wares from a suitcase of samples to independent retailers. Joe begins importing glass paraffin lamps and Butchers Scales sized from 6 inches to 6 feet tall from Portugal. Christine navigates and writes out delivery notes whilst Joe drives and delivers.

1980s

We exhibit at our first trade show in Blackpool with a horsebox for transport and trestle table for display. A name is needed and 'The Libra Scale Company' is born. Joe and Christine look to recruit. Amazed by Alistair's ability to sell Libra's products within Belgravia's Copper Mine store, Joe asks Alistair to join Libra as Sales Director and he agrees. Joe spots an opportunity to manufacture scales in Britain and sets up a production line in Nuthampsted, Hertfordshire. Libra goes on to produce over 2 million kitchen scales.

1990s

Libra broadens its product range with the ambition of becoming the leading wholesaler in the UK. Joe's entrepreneurial flair and desire for sustainability come to fruition when he discovers an innovative way to use the offcuts from an Indonesian wooden bed-making factory. Libra's mahogany handicraft business goes on to sell over 80000 products all made using by-products from 'Forest Alliance sustainable' wood.

2000s

Joe's son Paul becomes MD following Joe's untimely death. Helped by Alistair and the fantastic team at Libra, Paul continues to drive the business forward with the same determination as his father. Libra exhibits at its 150th trade show and opens its first concession.

2010s

Libra continues on its mission to build a brand and a partnership forms with Fenwick opening concessions across England. Paul follows in Joe's footsteps sourcing antiques from India and Libra 'originals' is born. The business moves to its current location enabling expansion of its showrooms and supporting future growth aspirations.

2020s

Alistair completes his 48th year as Sales Director and five further team members reach twenty years' service. Libra launches its Icons collection featuring 50 products from the 50 years. After half a century, our passion, knowledge and instinct to source and develop bold, beautifully crafted products for the home is stronger than ever. Still family-owned, we continue our founding mission to inspire customers with great designs and quality products from around the world.

VISIT OUR SHOWROOM

Libra's extensive showrooms are the only place to see our full collection. Located in Newmarket near Cambridge, our main showroom showcases Libra's core signature themes which have been carefully curated to help our customers make quick and informed buying decisions. Showrooms are open Monday to Friday from 08:30 until 17:00. Book an appointment today by calling us on +44 (0) 1223 895800 and a member of our sales team will be happy to show you around. Virtual appointments are also available should you prefer to tour our showroom from the comfort of your home or workplace.
